DOCTORS HOUSE CALL SERVICE:

Personalized Care Delivered to You

Accessing timely healthcare can be a challenge, especially for seniors, busy professionals, or those without a family doctor. Doctors House Call Service (DHCS) provides private, concierge-style medical care directly in patients’ homes, offices, cottages, or hotel suites – bringing healthcare to the individual, rather than the other way around.

“Our service operates seven days a week, from 9 a.m. to midnight,” the team explains. “Patients start with a phone intake with our Care Coordinators, who determine the best course of action. We do not handle medical emergencies – those require 911 – but for all other healthcare needs, we bring the clinic to the patient.”

DHCS prioritizes patients over 65 and those without access to a family doctor, helping to address gaps in traditional office-based care. Common challenges for this group include transportation issues, limited follow-up care, and a system focused on reactive rather than preventive medicine. DHCS bridges this gap by offering early intervention, lab testing, lifestyle guidance, and continuous monitoring – helping patients maintain wellness and manage ongoing conditions.

The service also caters to busy professionals who need flexible care schedules. CEOs, athletes, diplomats, and international travellers benefit from in-home consultations, follow-up services, and travel medicine advice, all delivered on their schedule, often after traditional office hours.

Popular services include female medicine consultations, travel medicine tailored to specific destinations, and routine wellness checks. Patients value the flexibility, privacy, and convenience of receiving care in their own environment, often as late as 8 or 10 p.m., without disrupting their demanding lives.

Whether addressing urgent concerns or supporting ongoing wellness, DHCS helps patients determine the right type of care through an initial intake session and personalized recommendations. With a focus on accessibility, flexibility, and individualized service, Doctors House Call Service demonstrates that high-quality healthcare doesn’t have to come with a wait or a commute: it comes directly to you.

“High-quality healthcare doesn’t have to come with a wait or a commute.
Doctors House Call Service brings personalized medical care directly to your home, office, or travel destination – on your schedule, when you need it most.”
